

LIMA, PERU

SERVICE LEARNING TRIP

—— INFO + ITINERARY ——

LIMA, PERU

Lima is the 2nd largest city in all of Latin America & home to nearly 10 million people! It's not just the Peruvian capital, Lima has become one of the leading food capitals of the entire world. Lima may be a massive city, but right in the midst of the modern buildings you can find pre-Inca archaeological sites to explore.

This destination is recommended for:

Volunteers who are more confident in a more urban setting and who have an interest in learning more about population growth and migration are welcome. In Lima, the shantytowns known as "pueblos Jovenes" have been the primary target of MEDLIFE's efforts since they are home to about one million individuals who are living in extremely impoverished conditions. Lima is a contemporary city with all of the amenities you would expect. Lima is also renowned as South America's culinary capital.

ISSUES COMMUNITIES FACE

Lima is Peru's capital and a modern, sprawling city of 10 million inhabitants. MEDLIFE is headquartered in this diverse city, but for reasons beyond why a typical tourist might stop here. MEDLIFE's work in Lima focuses on the human settlements or "pueblos jovenes" in the outskirts of Lima, where almost 1 million people live in impoverished conditions. These communities consist of small shacks, often made of reed mats or plywood and built into the precarious rocky hillsides around Lima. Most of these communities lack access to basic services like running water and electricity. While the entire city was badly hit by COVID-19, these communities were affected severely. With the majority of the population living hand-to-mouth on wages from informal jobs, the pandemic brought months of financial hardship and food insecurity. Our COVID-19 relief effort helped make sure that families didn't go hungry, but further support is needed to get communities back on their feet.

Every day, Mobile Clinics bring healthcare to different communities. The journey to these communities can take anywhere from 30 minutes to 2 hours, depending on traffic.

When we arrive, volunteers unload medical supplies from the bus and meet the health professionals they'll be assisting. After a brief training session, the clinic opens its doors to patients between 8-9am.

Volunteers work until their lunch break around 11:30 am, then switch to their afternoon station. The clinics close between 1-3pm, depending on patient volume.

During the week, you may also contribute to community Development Projects, such as building staircases, public spaces, or roads, based on local needs.

In the evenings, we gather for interactive Post-Clinic Activities before dinner. On free days, volunteers are encouraged to explore the city.
